Executive Summary

Authorizing an agreement with Engineering Surveys and Services related to the design of the Ninth and Elm Pedestrian Scramble project. This project will be constructed in conjunction with the Ninth and Elm Street Storm Drain replacement project. A public hearing was held on August 3, 2015.

Discussion

In 2014, Public Works was asked to evaluate options to modify the Ninth and Elm Street intersection to provide a pedestrian scramble crossing. A pedestrian scramble can be defined as a 3-phase intersection, with the 1st phase being movement of north/south vehicle traffic, 2nd phase being movement of east/west vehicle traffic, and 3rd phase being movement of pedestrians only. The pedestrian scramble allows pedestrians to cross in any direction as no vehicles are moving at the same time. Generally, this style of pedestrian crossing adds some delay to both pedestrian and vehicle travel, but can decrease conflicts between pedestrian and vehicle movements at certain locations.

Because the pedestrian scramble project will be constructed in conjunction with the Ninth and Elm Street Drain replacement project, staff estimates a savings of about $100,000. The possibility of the pedestrian scramble was included in the Interested Parties (IP) meeting and the council walk-through for the sewer project.

Most of the signal equipment at the location is 30+ years old and has met life expectancy. The signal equipment parts and scramble pedestrian features would be paid for from the Annual Streets project account at an estimated cost of $150,000. A diagram for the project is attached.

Fiscal Impact

Short-Term Impact: The agreement with Engineering Surveys & Services is for a not to exceed amount of $39,228. The total project cost is estimated at $132,000 and will be paid from the Annual Streets project account.

Long-Term Impact: Minimal maintenance costs

This provision does not, however, require ENGINEER to indemnify, hold harmless or defend the City of Columbia from its own negligence, except as set out herein.

7.1.3 Professional Oversight Indemnification
The ENGINEER understands and agrees that CITY has contracted with ENGINEER based upon ENGINEER's representations that ENGINEER is a skilled professional and fully able to provide the services set out in this Agreement. 7.3 Estimates and Projections

Estimates and projections prepared by ENGINEER relating to construction costs and schedules, operation and maintenance costs, equipment characteristics and performance, and operating results are based on ENGINEER's experience, qualifications and judgment as a design professional. Since ENGINEER has no control over weather, cost and availability of labor, material and equipment, labor productivity, construction contractor's procedures and methods, unavoidable delays, construction contractor's methods of determining prices, economic conditions, competitive bidding or market conditions and other factors affecting such estimates or projections, ENGINEER does not guarantee that actual rates, costs, performance, schedules, etc., will not vary from estimates and projections prepared by ENGINEER.

7.4 On-Site Services

PROJECT site visits by ENGINEER during construction shall not make ENGINEER responsible for construction means, methods, techniques, sequences or procedures; for construction safety precautions or programs; or for any construction contractor(s') failure to perform its work in accordance with the plans and specifications.

7.5 Changes

CITY shall have the right to make changes within the general scope of ENGINEER's services, with an appropriate change in compensation, upon execution of a mutually acceptable amendment or change order signed by an authorized representative of the CITY and the President or any Vice President of the ENGINEER.

Recognizing the importance of professional development on the part of ENGINEER's employees and the importance of ENGINEER's public relations, ENGINEER may prepare publications, such as technical papers, articles for periodicals, and press releases, pertaining to ENGINEER's services for the PROJECT. Such publications will be provided to CITY in draft form for CITY's advance review. CITY will review such drafts promptly and will provide comments to ENGINEER. CITY may require deletion of proprietary data or confidential information from such publications but otherwise will not unreasonably withhold its approval. ATTACHMENT A - SCOPE OF SERVICES

September 14, 2015

Ninth and Elm Street Pedestrian Scramble Intersection Improvements
City of Columbia Public Works Department

PROJECT DESCRIPTION:

The intersection of Ninth and Elm Street will be modified to provide a pedestrian scramble crossing. A pedestrian scramble is defined as a 3-phase intersection, with the 1st phase being movement of north/south vehicle traffic, 2nd phase being movement of east/west vehicle traffic, and 3rd phase being movement of pedestrians only. The pedestrian scramble allows pedestrians to cross the intersection diagonally as no vehicles are moving at the same time.

New sidewalk ramps will be constructed to allow pedestrians to cross north/south, east/west, as well as diagonally. The ramps will be a blended transition style with a two foot wide detectable warning along the edge of the ramp. All sidewalk pavement will be installed per the Downtown Sidewalk details.

All new traffic signal and pedestrian signal equipment will be installed. The traffic signals will be mounted to mast arms over the traffic lanes. Street lighting will be provided at the intersection. Light fixtures will match the existing downtown light fixture styles currently at the intersection.

The brick crosswalks and all underlying brick pavement disturbed by the project will be removed, cleaned, stockpiled and salvaged for future brick street repair and restoration project use. The intersection will be reconstructed with asphalt pavement. All new crosswalk markings will be painted with waterborne epoxy paint.

Location and How it Works

Making it easier—and safer—for people, bicyclists and drivers to get around is critical pie of planning for an active downtown. That's the goal behind Columbia's first "Scramble Intersection" being proposed at Ninth Street and Elm Street.

- 1 Green lights for north/south traffic, pedestrians wait. Right turns are safer with no pedestrians using crosswalk.
- 2 East/west traffic gets green lights. Pedestrians continue waiting, traffic flows smoothly through the intersection.
- 3 All traffic stopped. Pedestrians and bicyclists are free to cross the intersection in any direction safely.
