Destination Trails

- MKT Trail
  - 1.3 miles
  - The backbone of Columbia’s ever-expanding trail system is the MKT Trail. It’s 34.5 miles long, crushed limestone surface, built on the old right-of-way of the Katy railroad, begins at the intersection of Fourth and Cherry Streets to Scott Boulevard in downtown Columbia, and connects with the blue 24-mile cross-state Katy Trail. The MKT Trail traverses through beautiful landscapes, including some Wildlife Areas and attractions. The trail provides a variety of landscapes, and attractions.

- Nature Area Trails
  - Columbia Parks and Recreation creates and preserves open areas of natural areas. Each park has a unique set of features and flora and fauna as they serve the community.
  - • Hinkson Creek Trail
    - 4.15 miles
    - Hinkson Creek Trail is a scenic limestone trail that connects Grindstone Nature Area to the MKT Trail. Route management provides a variety of landscapes, and attractions.

- Community and Regional Park Trails
  - List below are the trails at community and regional parks, which are typically 15 acres or more, and provide parking and restrooms.
    - • Albert-Moore Trail & Fitness Course
      - 1 mile
    - • Cosmos Trail
      - 1.25 miles, asphalt, E-2
    - • Cosmos-Nature Trail
      - 1.3 miles, dirt, E-6
    - • Cosmo-Belt Lake Trail
      - 2.4 miles, concrete, M-7
    - • Fairview-Nature Trail
      - 0.55 miles, dirt, E-1
    - • Gans Trail
      - 2.1 miles, gravel, H-15
    - • Indian Hills Trail
      - 1.9 miles, limestone, E-13
    - • Kincaid Nature Trail
      - 0.6 miles, gravel, E-5
    - • Philips Lake Trail
      - 1.4 miles, limestone, M-10
    - • Rock Quarry Trail
      - 0.65 miles, limestone, L-9
    - • Stephens Lake Trail
      - 0.65 miles, concrete, H-10
    - • Stephens Promontory Trail
      - 1.7 miles, concrete, H-10

- Neighborhood Park Trails
  - Neighborhood parks are typically 1-5 acres, and are designed to be within walking distance of surrounding neighborhoods, providing a safe and enjoyable place for residents to gather and enjoy outdoor recreation.